Jen Morway asks Angie Low to discuss two ideas she has for the selectboard. Angie Low says that she has been wondering if having a Facebook Page for the Town would be helpful, that they could post everything that is posted on the website there such as meetings and announcements. The selectboard agrees and discusses what they could post and the privacy settings for the page and the possibility of also creating an Instagram account for the town to post flyers and announcements to. Angie Low says her second idea was that the Town could have its own newsletter. Angie explains that the newsletter could include brief updates from each Town department and local organizations, that it could include the announcements. Angie Low explains that they could post it on the website but also offer printed copies to those who do not have access to the internet. Angie Low says they could consider printing a black & white newsletter with the printer at the town office on 11"x17" paper and fold it in half. The selectboard discusses the idea. Josie Leavitt asks Angie Low how often was she thinking it would occur, Angie explains that they could do it weekly or monthly, that they could start with monthly and change to weekly if there is enough information to do so. The selectboard asks how much time this would take her. Angie Low explains that setting it up would take the longest but that if the right procedures are put in place, it should not take too much time to produce. Angie Low explains that she could set it up that each department emails her on a set day with an update of a line or two of text and that could be enough to create the newsletter's content. Josie Leavitt comments that there are many departments and local organizations that no one ever hears about and it would be nice to see regular updates on them. The selectboard says that Angie Low should look at templates and there can be a slow ramp-up to the newsletter. Jeff Parizo says they should start with the Facebook page and they can go from there. Jen Morway notes that a printed newsletter would allow those without internet to get updates. Josie Leavitt explains that having a printed newsletter would make town updates more equitable for those not on the internet.

Josie: Will add the attendance piece to the Rules & Procedures.
